WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

While it is true that our poor men and men with wages or salaries only, are often put to their wits ends to raise a little extra money, the evidences crop out daily in the Eastern press of an abundance of money to be had on good commercial paper or for promising investments, says the Houston Post.

Appropos, a Louisville paper tells of a man in that city the other day who tried to loan $25,000 at 5 per cent to a merchant, but was informed that the money was not needed as he, the merchant, was investing a surplus regularly. This may possible be an extreme case, but it serves to corroborate the oft repeated statement that there is an abundance of idle money somewhere, seeking even a low return of interest.

The trouble is, however, that this idle money, while probably abundant, is confined almost exclusively to the east. It is a rare thing to see $25,000 actually seeking a borrower in the west or south, and in this incident related lies the key to a great deal of opinion as to what the country needs just now from a financial standpoint. When the south and west say more money is required the east answers that the banks and business men are already loaded. The quickest and best way to answer our demand is to give us an ocular demonstration, by unloading some of the hoarded millions in the other sections of the nation and multiplying the wheels of industry and trade. Distribution at this time would be far more effective than argument and nobody's dollar need be lost nor fail to make a good interest profit either.

CALVIN S. BRICE of Ohio and New York has heard that there is a free silver movement among Ohio Democrats and he hastens to enter a protest. His principal reason for opposing any agitation of the subject is that Mr. Cleveland is opposed to it. He adds that these who believe in and uphold the doctrines of the president on the money question should not be driven out of the Democratic party. Protests from men like Senator Brice no longer avail. The time has come when either the friends of the president and the gold standard or the friends of the people and the silver standard must be driven out of the party. A test of strength is inevitable. The same party can no longer hold elements of views diametrically opposed. The best that Senator Brice can do is to make his fight for the gold standard and when he loses, as lose he must, to go wherever the other gold bugs go. There will be a few of them from the Republican party to keep him company.

MOHAVE COUNTY Miner: The auditor of Arizona has dug up a statute that was repealed four years ago and will pay federal judges $600 per year under its provisions. While we deplore the failure of the legislature in not passing an appropriation for the federal judges, we fail to see why they should not be regarded in the same light as other officers. There is no law on the statute books of Arizona that allows the payment of money to the judges of the district courts, and the chances are the auditor will get himself in a hole should he pay them the $600 a year as demanded.

Hon. W. A. Clark, of the United Verde Copper Co., one of the heaviest taxpayers in Arizona as well as one of the brainiest men of the nation, is very liable to represent the state of Arizona in the United States senate in future years. There will be an abundance of time for Clark to acquire a residence before we are admitted, as such admission is not liable to occur before another national election.—Prescott Courier.

Isn't just a trifle early to bring out senatorial candidates? Besides, Mr. Clark is a Democrat, and Arizona is not likely to send any Democrats to the senate. We have had enough of that political persuasion in the past two years to last a lifetime.

THE GROWTH of the silver sentiment is very strikingly shown in the fact that a few months ago the gold papers all insisted that free silver was merely a craze indorsed by a few long-haired cranks, and would never amount to anything; whereas the same papers are now publishing labored editorials every day, embellished with long rows of figures to prove that it is possible for the gold men to defeat the free silver proposition in one or both of the National conventions next year.

SENATOR MITCHELL of Oregon is the latest prominent man to make himself heard from to good effect in a strong exhortation in favor of free coinage. That section of the far west has harbored a good deal of goldbug sentiment, and it needs just such men as Mr. Mitchell to talk up to such papers as the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and explain the bi-metallic doctrine.

IN ANSWER to the question, "What is home without a newspaper?" a state exchange says: "It's a place where hats are stuffed into window panes; where the children are like young pigs; the wife like a savage and the husband with a panorama of the dismal swamp painted on his shirt bosom with tobacco juice."

MOHAVE COUNTY Miner: Major D. M. Riordan has earned the gratitude of the people of Flagstaff for his untiring efforts in behalf of that little city. If he succeeds in bringing forth the Durango and Flagstaff railroad he will lay the foundation for the most thriving city in Arizona.

ITALY proposes to make a trial of 5-cent telegrams, and is trying to make arrangements with other European countries for a general reduction of rates. Imagine anybody suggesting such a rate as that in this country.

AFTER September 1, a girl under 18 cannot lawfully be married in the state of New York without the consent of her parents. But she can elope to some other state and have the knot tied, and laugh New York lawmakers to scorn.

A LEVEL-HEADED contemporary remarks: "We order out all the carriages in town and do a lot of sniffing around when somebody dies. Suppose we bestow a little sympathy while they are living and not so much afterwards."

THE EDITOR of the Socorro Advertiser accuses Judge Hamilton of the serious offense of breaking a political promise made in the presence of witnesses.—Albuquerque Citizen.

Pshaw! That is so common among the office holders of Arizona that it isn't worth mentioning.

WITH BOTH the Times and Herald of Los Angeles advocating the gold bug doctrine there is a splendid opportunity for the Express to go clear to the front as the friend of the people.

EX-SPEAKER PEEL receives an annuity of $20,000 a year for being ex-speaker. Retired parliamentary service seems to be more remunerative than active service.

BURIED GOLD.

Being Sought by Envoys of President Diaz.

Several Hundred Pounds of the Precious Metal Said to Be Hidden Near Santa Rita.

From the Tombstone Prospector.

A party of Mexicans claiming to be special envoys of President Diaz are prospecting for buried treasure in the neighborhood of Santa Rita, Grant county, New Mexico.

The treasure is said to have been buried during the Mexican revolution when the rule of the Spaniards was overthrown. The party who buried the treasure was en route to Santa Fe, but being encompassed by danger from the revolutionists as well as from Indians were compelled to secrete their treasure.

There is said to be three large sacks of gold, containing several hundred pounds of the precious metal. The Mexicans who are searching for this treasure have maps and charts with other data which they think will enable them to locate it.

Says He Knows Nothing of the Marriage

Reported Between Himself and Miss Nannery—Friends of Miss Nannery Say They Are to Marry.

From the Los Angeles Express.

Irving L. Blinn, the son of L. W. Blinn, the wealthy lumber merchant, awoke this morning to find himself suddenly famous in a way. Each of the morning papers contained a sensational story to the effect that Mr. Blinn was about to take unto himself a wife, the object of his affections being no other than Pretty Miss Genevieve Nannery, a talented young actress, who is connected with Dailey's stock company, and who during an engagement several weeks ago at the Burbank, captivated the audiences with her clever acting.

It is quite likely that young Blinn's chestnut hair stood well on end when his eyes fell upon the bold headlines in the papers, and it is also likely that after he had read the reports he said something that wouldn't sound well in print.

For several days there had been rumors afloat to the effect that Mr. Blinn was about to marry Miss Nannery and that the ceremony would be performed today, either in this city or at San Diego.

It was during the young lady's engagement at the Burbank that Mr. Blinn met her and, so the story goes, they became great friends, went together much of the time, and soon the air was full of sensational reports, as is always the case under such circumstances.

When an Express reporter met young Blinn this morning in the yard of the Blinn company on East First street that gentleman was busy at work, and there was nothing in his appearance to indicate that he was soon to launch out on the sea of matrimony.

Asked by the reporter if there was any truth in the story of his going to wed Miss Nannery, Mr. Blinn said:

"This beats my time. If I am to be married, I know nothing of it. I guess I'd know if anybody does. Yes, Miss Nannery and I are friends. I met her on a number of occasions while she was playing with the Dailey stock company at the Burbank. I cannot understand how such a story about the young lady and myself could have ever gotten into print. It looks as if some one were trying to put up a joke on us. But I can't see where the fun comes in. It is not pleasant for Miss Nannery and it certainly is not pleasant for me.

"Yes, Miss Nannery is now in San Diego. I cannot say, I am sure, when she will return to Los Angeles."

Mr. Blinn is about 25 years old and good looking. He is very much cut up over the notoriety that has been thrust upon him.

Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Blinn denies the story that he is to wed pretty Miss Nannery, several persons who know the young lady well said today that there was no question but Mr. Blinn would soon lead the object of his affections to the altar.

Mr. Dailey had nothing to say when seen by the Express reporter, more than if young Blinn married Miss Nannery he would get "a good girl, even if she is an actress."
